

THREE HUNDRED DIED IN MINE

Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal Mine Near Pittsburg
Catches Fire From An Explosion.

NO HOPE OF RESCUE ENTERTAINED

Fan House Was Partially Demolished, And The Men
Were Without Fresh Air For Over An Hour--
Most Of The Workmen Were Americans.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Pittsburg, Nov. 28.—Between two and three hundred miners are entombed in a mine owned by the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal Company at Marrianna and there is but little chance of any of them being rescued. Caused by Explosion.
The first reports to come from the mine state that an explosion down in the mine has set fire to the gases in the shaft and along the upper and lower workings is spreading rapidly through the entire mine.
None Appear.
In an hour and a half after the accident was first reported not a single miner has reached the surface and the smoke began pouring out of the mouth of the shaft like a large chimney.
Little Hope.
There is but little hope that any of the miners, the majority of whom are Americans, can be rescued alive and there is a strong probability their bodies will be entirely consumed by the fierce fires.
Fans Stopped.
The first explosion partially wrecked the fan house which supplies the mine with fresh air and it was an hour before it could be repaired and brought into operation once more.
Deadly Gas.
The stopping of the fans means the mine is filled with dangerous and deadly gases which it is not thought possible for the miners to have endured and escaped alive.

The New Emperor of China will not be neglected by our jolly international hazers.

COMPLETE REORGANIZATION OF THE FORESTRY SERVICE

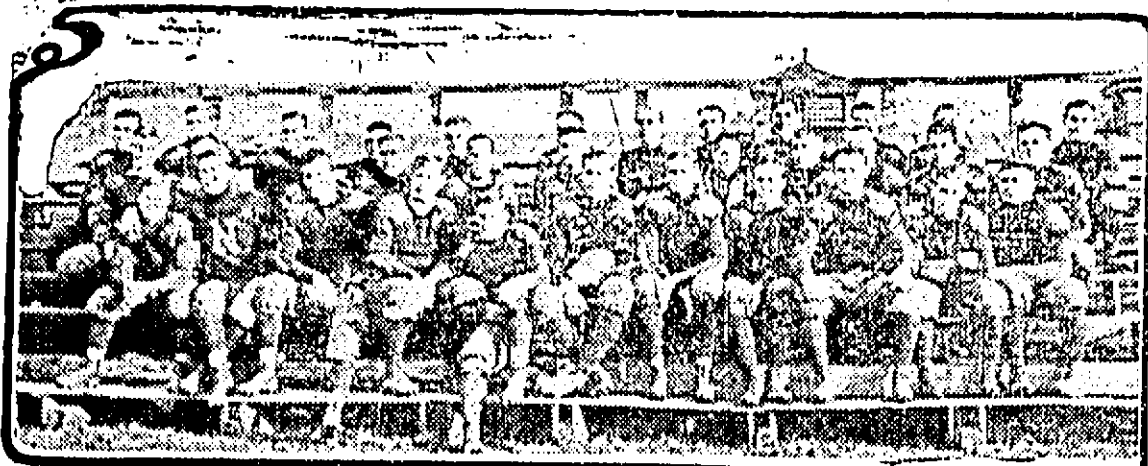

Six Administration Headquarters To Be Established In West And Northwest.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., November 28.—All preparations have been completed to establish, within a few days, the six administrative headquarters in the West and Northwest, which mean a complete reorganization of the forestry service of the government. Hereafter all administrative business, all scientific and other investigations, and in fact all matters connected with the forestry service will be transacted at the headquarters in this city. The rapid and enormous development of the service made it necessary to devise some plan for distributing the work of the department and, at the same time, bringing it in closer direct touch with the territory under its care and supervision.
After considerable study and consideration of the problem it was decided, to establish in the West six districts with separate headquarters and to give to each a staff of clerical employees and experts under the direction and supervision of a district forester, residing within his respective district. It was decided to establish the districts and headquarters:
First district—including the states of Montana, northeastern Washington, northern Idaho, northern Wyoming and northwestern South Dakota; headquarters at Missoula, Mont. W. B. Crowley, district forester.
Second district—including the states of Colorado, southern Wyoming, South Dakota, northern Minnesota, Nebraska, western Kansas and southwestern Utah; headquarters at Denver, Col. Smith Riley, district forester.
Third district—including the states of Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma; headquarters at Albuquerque, N. M. A. C. Ringland, district forester.
Fourth district—including the states of Utah, southern Idaho, western Wyoming, eastern Nevada and northwestern Arizona; headquarters at Ogden, Utah. Clyde Leavitt, district forester.
Fifth district—including the states of California and southwestern Nevada; headquarters at San Francisco, Cal. F. E. Olmsted, district forester.
Sixth district—including the states of Washington, Oregon, a small part of northern California, and Alaska; headquarters at Portland, Ore. L. T. Allen, district forester.
Under these officers and at their several headquarters will be transacted hereafter the greater part of the routine administrative business connected with the forestry service. At the head of each office there will be a district forester and an assistant district forester. Under them will be experts in charge of the various lines of work. A chief of grazing will have charge of range matters. A chief of products will handle the preservative treatment of timber, the strength tests and study of market conditions. A chief of lands will look after such matters as land examinations. The office of lands deals with questions involving the validity of claims asserted under the public land laws, applications for special use of the resources of the national forests, changes in boundaries of forests and the examination of lands offered for under the act of June 11, 1906, for agricultural settlement.
There will also be in each district a chief of silviculture, who will have charge of timber sales, planting and silvical experiments, and a chief of operation. The latter will supervise the personnel of the forests; the permanent improvement work, through an engineer in charge; the accounts of the district, including receipts, disbursements and bookkeeping, which will be directly supervised by an expert accountant, and the routine business of the district.
In each of the lines of work the management will be in the hands of a man who is a specialist and who has had thorough experience both in the West and in Washington. The establishment of these six districts will bring the service into more immediate touch with the public. It is merely the completion of the movement, started some time ago, to have the forests administered as far as possible by men actually on the ground. The change will not affect the investigation work of the service, which will center, as hitherto, in Washington.
Nearly four hundred foresters, clerks, stenographers and other employees will start from here early next week for the respective headquarters to which they will be attached. To most of them the change means an advancement and an increase in their salaries. The latter was necessary owing to the greater cost of living in the West.

WEEK OF PRAYER FOR ALL DENOMINATIONS

Men's Organizations All Over World Join in Movement for Spread of Gospel.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, November 28.—Following a suggestion made by the Episcopal Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the week beginning tomorrow is to be observed by men's organizations of all denominations as a week of prayer for the spread of Christ's kingdom among the men of the whole world. Besides the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the organizations which have announced their adherence to the arrangement include the Presbyterian Brotherhood, the Congregational, the Baptist, the Methodist and the United Presbyterian Brotherhoods. Several organizations in Europe also have agreed to cooperate in the movement. This is said to be the first time that men's organizations of so many religious bodies have acted in unison, and the occasion is regarded as all the more significant from the fact that the initiative was taken in the Episcopal church, which does not ordinarily lend itself to inter-denominational movements.

Harry Mitchell, son of Alderman Mitchell, of Beloit, sustained a severe fracture of his right limb last night by being kicked just below the knee by a horse. The bones of his leg were splintered and he was taken to the Beloit hospital where he will have to remain some time before the fracture is healed.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE STOCK SHOW OPENED

Prominent Feature Will Be Judging Contests For Agricultural Students.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 28.—With 3,167 animals on display, the ninth annual International Live Stock Show opened at the Union Stock Yards today for a week's session. Last year the exhibits numbered about 7,000 and the result was that the show was so large as to be unwieldy. As a consequence the management decided to limit the number of nominations this year, particularly in the sheep and swine classes.
Texas and the other great cattle raising sections of the United States are well represented, especially in the sections allotted to car load lots of stock and feeders. Canada is better represented than at any of the previous shows held here. Among the exhibitors of sheep is Sir William Cooper of Berkshire, England.
Not a little added interest attaches to the show from the fact that the nomination of seven animals from the Kentucky farm of J. B. Huggins, other prominent exhibitors in the division are F. W. Harding of Waukegan, Wis., Congressman Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, and D. R. Hanna of Havana, Ohio, son of the late Senator Hanna.
As in former years a prominent feature of the exposition is the judging contest for students of the state agricultural colleges. The agricultural colleges of Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Texas, Ohio and a number of other states are represented in the contest by teams of their brightest young men. The two best teams will be given handsome bronze trophies and the scholarships established by J. Ogden Armour will be distributed among the schools whose teams make the best showing. The contest was inaugurated soon after the opening of the show today. Notebooks in hand, the students knitted their brows and looked wise, while they went about their task of testing their skill as experts upon the batches of animals that were trotted out for their inspection.

WISCONSIN PLACED ON THE ACCREDITED LIST AT LAST

Work Relative To Tabulation of Vital Statistics Recognized By Federal Government.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 28.—Wisconsin has been made a "registration state" by the federal census department, in recognition of the advance legislation in this state for the collection and compilation of vital statistics. This fact was conveyed in a letter from the authorities at Washington to Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the Wisconsin state board of health and vital statistics.
The recognition given Wisconsin has distinct advantages. In the first place, the annual report of mortality statistics in registration states issued by the bureau of the census, which is under the direction and supervision of the bureau of commerce and labor, will contain a complete report of mortality statistics in Wisconsin. If the officials charged with the enforcement of the registration law obtain accurate and complete reports, Wisconsin will continue as a registration state and, when the 1910 census is taken Wisconsin will be counted among those which have taken the advanced step toward compiling such records.
At the last session of congress, when provisions were made for taking the next federal census, it was determined that no mortality nor morbidity statistics would be collected. Therefore, all states which have not been accepted as registration states will have no statistics of disease for comparison or reference.

WEEK OF PRAYER DURING JANUARY

SUBJECTS NOW ANNOUNCED BY THE EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF PROGRAM

Fellowship and Work for the World's Christian Progress is Urged.

Janesville churches and church members who are affiliated with the Evangelical alliance for the United States will be interested in the topics for the week of prayer to be observed January 3 to 10th. The following is the list suggested:

Sunday, Jan. 3.—Sermons—"The Law of the Harvest," "Do not deceive; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," Gal. 6:7. "Ye ask and receive not, because ye ask amiss," James 4:3.

Monday, Jan. 4.—The Bible—The Word of God.

Tuesday, Jan. 5.—God's Faithfulness, Man's Responsibility.

Wednesday, Jan. 6.—Missions, Home and Foreign.

Thursday, Jan. 7.—Intemperance and Gambling.

Friday, Jan. 8.—Family and School.

Saturday, Jan. 9.—Signs of the Times.

Sunday, Jan. 10.—Sermons—Christ, the Giver of Life. "I am the way, the truth and the life. No one cometh unto the father but by me," John 14:6.

In promulgating this list the alliance through its president, Rev. Dr. Leander T. Chamberlain of New York, issues this invitation:

"The week of prayer is again at hand. Begun with the founding of the Evangelical alliance in London in 1847, made directly inclusive of missions in response to the plea of missionaries in 1889, and thereafter designed to embrace all the interests of the kingdom of God; it is today the most nearly universal of the spiritual devotional fellowships of the Christian church. Constant testimonies from all parts of the world prove its spiritual power, a power limited only by the practical sincerity, the intelligent living faith of those who, unitedly pray.

"Therefore the Evangelical alliance for the United States sends forth this renewed call as a wholly justified appeal to all who believe in prayer. Surely it were faithless and cruel to fail in the use of any of the divinely appointed, and the divinely honored means of bringing the world into a renitent redemption. Christian sympathy should extend into every country and race and prayer should eagerly take in the universal needs.

"At the same time we have a compelling reason for pleading the necessities of our land; that true, essential religion may prevail, our churches being purified into practical unity and sanctified for unending and unselfish service; that our national institutions may be those of fraternal peace with honor, and not of destructive war with human pity; that the world's strife of parties may be replaced by worthy patriotism, and the conflicts of races and classes be transformed into the rivalries of good will; that intemperance with its immeasurable woes may be supplanted by a temperance which shall exult in manhood and bless womanhood and strew childhood's path with flowers; that all our people, whether native-born or alien, may have the protection of just laws justly administered, and may be the steadfast upholders of such laws and such administration; and all this, and more, to the glory of God, that we may be what we ought to be in the world fellowship, and do what we ought to do in the world's Christian progress."

TOBACCO GROWERS ARE ALL JUBILANT

Long Expected Casing Weather Gave Them Time to Take Their Tobacco Down and Begin Stripping.

According to the advices from the tobacco centers the long expected casing weather has come and the Edgerton Reporter now predicts a season of work in both warehouses and on the farms.

Following a day of mild, foggy atmosphere, the first rain in some weeks fell on the evening of the 21st, continuing intermittently for the next 48 hours, the temperature all the time being warm and a heavy, thick fog that permeated every crevice of the tobacco sheds. If it had been designed to order a more satisfactory casing damp could hardly be wished for, as the hanging leaf came gradually into almost any desired case, and continued long enough to permit growers to remove any portion or all of their crop as they desired. The owners of the sheds were ready to take down Monday and farmers were given one or two days more to leisurely complete the work of removing the crop from the poles. Under such excellent conditions it is believed that growers embraced the opportunity to take down a large portion of the hanging crop in this state. Stripping will now proceed and in a week or ten days dealers will be asked to commence receiving. Warehouses handling, therefore, will be able to start early in December, giving nearly a month before the holidays. One or two firms we know of are ready to commence the season's packing as soon as deliveries can be made. The starting of the warehouse season means the revival of business at the packing points and labor that finds employment in tobacco handling gladly welcome the change in program, all brought about by casing weather.

The tobacco damp continued long enough to bring the hanging leaf into ideal case and stripping will be general in the country. Delivery can also be made in time for farmers to realize considerable Christmas money.

"Whether the new condition will promote the resumption of buying of the new crop remains to be seen. It will at least give buyers an opportunity to intelligently examine the crop as it will appear when ready for the market.

"Trading is still confined to old leaf mainly from growers' hands at prices that permit of export, and the following transactions have reached us: Wm. Gardner, 2500 of '08 at 92c; J. H. Meyer, 2200 of '08 at 8c; Harry Everett, 2200 of '07 at 92c; T. A. Vix, 1500 of '07 at 102c; Gen. AT THE

PLAY HOUSES

It is given out by the management which produces the play of "The Tiler" at the Myers theatre next Wednesday evening, Dec. 2, that the great author, Henri Bernstein, had the courage to defy conventionality when formulating the work, and that he moreover took a firm grasp on so-called modern society and held fast to certain of its weaknesses—and all this he has done. It is asserted, most tellingly. The play must consequently be beautifully symmetrical. It is at least rated as an all-comprehensive example of dramatic craft, its very inconsistencies heightening its charm.

Substitute for Confetti.

The time may be opportune for an appeal to inventors to consider the urgent need there is for some substitute for confetti. To admit that rice was bad is not to make the substitute any better. It is comparatively painless when thrown, but the absolute impossibility of removing it from clothes or carpets without picking it off by individual particles should be enough of itself to condemn it in the eyes of all reasonable people.

Dignity of the English Waiter.

The English hotel waiter belongs to a race which is slowly but surely becoming extinct, and carries about him the melancholy aura of the doomed. Every headwaiter, at a British inn has in him, at least, the making of a duke's butler. No glimpse of avarice mars the perfection of his monumental manner, and if, at the last, he condescends to accept your val, it is with something of an air of a dis-crowned king.—Sketch.

Optimistic Baltimoreans.

Conspicuously displayed in wholesale houses throughout the city are placards that read: "Make a noise now like an order." This style of sign serves as a follow up system of the producer, lately adroitly cracked: "We no advance agents of optimism—no calamity howlers here!"—Baltimore American.

This scene was very dramatic as the jury announced its verdict in the stillness of the court and it was learned that the jury had found Mr. Morse guilty of the two charges.

The recent unveiling of a notable monument to President Benjamin Harrison has served to turn public attention to the nation's best-known presidential widow—Mrs. Benjamin Harrison. Ex-President Harrison left his widow so rich a fortune that she has never felt called upon to ask the United States government for the $5,000 annual pension to which every presidential widow is entitled. KING EDWARD AS HE APPEARS TODAY AND AS HE APPEARED IN HIS BOYHOOD DAYS.

Photograph, Underwood & Underwood, New York.

At the time when this author sat was the pride of his heart, the English boy who stands here with his hands in his pockets was the pride of his young queen mother. But he was far from being a spoiled child. His mother believed that work was good for boys and that the first step towards knowing how to give orders was learning how to obey orders. He had not much money to spend either, probably not as much as many American children have today. How times change! Now they call him Edward VII, king of Great Britain and Ireland and emperor of India, and other boys in sailor suits call him "grandfather."

In connection with the recent fifth anniversary celebration of President Roosevelt, it is interesting to note the ages of other powerful rulers of the world. The oldest ruler is of course the venerable emperor of Austria-Hungary, Francis Joseph, who is in his seventy-ninth year, having been born on August 18, 1830. He is still active and continues to direct the somewhat complicated policy of the dual empire. This is the more remarkable on account of the many domestic troubles he has had with his children, his nephews, and his wife, who met her tragic death at Geneva, in 1898.

That sturdy old patriot, President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico, runs him a "close second," having been born on September 15, 1830, and is therefore only a month younger than the Austrian emperor. He was first elected president in 1876, and with one short interval, has been president ever since.

The next in order of age is that somewhat erratic gentleman, King Leopold II, of Belgium, who was born April 3, 1835, and is now in his seventy-fourth year. Reports say that he is still as gay as ever.

M. Armand Fallieres, the president of the French republic, was born November 6, 1841, and thus heads by three days King Edward VII, of England, who was born November 9 in the same year. Each is therefore in his sixty-seventh year, and they both appear to be hale and hearty.

Frederick VIII, king of Denmark, is the next oldest ruler. He was 65 on June 5, while our old friend, Abdul Hamid II, is only 57. In spite of the visit of our fleet to Japan, it may be now to many persons that the present emperors of Japan is Mutsuhito, and as we cannot trace another Mutsuhito, he is apparently Mutsuhito I. He is fifty-six years of age, having been born November 3, 1852.

Gustavus V., king of Sweden, was born June 16, 1858, and William II, emperor of Germany, January 27, 1859, and they are therefore each of them about fifty and they appear the nearest of all to our president in this respect. The czar of Russia is a mere youth, looked at from the European point of view. He is only forty, and lives in such seclusion that very little is really known about him. There remain Victor Emmanuel, king of Italy, who is thirty-nine, which of course is very young for a king, and those royal infants, King Alfonso XIII, of Spain, who is twenty-two, and King Manuel II, of Portugal, who is nineteen.

SOMETHING HE NEEDN'T KNOW.

Purchase Not Likely to Have Interested Him, Anyway.

A condition when it is a temptation to patronize the exchange desk of the store is brought about by the receipt of a gift that is a duplicate of something already possessed. One girl was made miserable by receiving a most beautiful inland desk simply because she had two desks already. After giving the subject deliberate thought she decided to lay the matter before the young man who sent her the desk. She felt he would not be so unreasonable as to be offended.

And he wasn't. "Get it exchanged for whatever you want," he said. "Of course, I want to see you pleased."

So she smiled forth. It was difficult to find anything that just fitted the price. The first thing selected was a dainty effect in cameo; then came a bolt buckle; then a pair of gloves.

After making these purchases with the exchange check there was still a goodly sum over. The girl could not make up her mind what she wanted. Then she thought very deeply, smiled to herself once or twice and completed her shopping tour on the desk proceeds.

What she bought was filmy and lace.

And she never includes it in the list she gives the young man of his "various" gifts to her.

NERVES OF LEARNED PEOPLE.

May Be Calmed by Silence, Solitude and Sleep, Says One Writer.

In an article on "Nerves," published in Harper's Bazar, the story is told of one of our noted scientists who went to Dresden to consult the famous specialist for broken-down nerves. On hearing his symptoms the great physician said, indifferently:

"Ach, so? It is probable that you have—yes, all the collection (learned) have neurasthenia naturally." The remedy suggested was "Play golf and go to Egypt. You can get Munich beer in Cairo, though it is disgustingly expensive there."

Silence, solitude and sleep are the sovereign remedies suggested for jugged nerves. Slight daily doses of the three "S's," it is claimed, will prevent a nervous breakdown, and may be obtained by even the most busy people. But "All the learned have neurasthenia" is at once a warning and a consolation to the brain worker. To "drive the machine" with skill and care is the problem of the successful American.

The writer of this article urges that we ought to thank God that we belong to the most nervous, restless, all-pervading race the world has seen since the days of Julius Caesar. It is our "nerves" that make us what we are.

MAIN THING IS TO KEEP COOL.

Advice for Those Who May Lose Their Way in the Woods.

Let the man who is lost in the woods be very careful not to over-exert himself. His chief dangers lie in panic and overexertion, and, though he may be in a great hurry to find shelter, I must warn him to go slowly. Two miles an hour, on an average, through the snow, in the woods, is all that a man in his condition will be able to stand without overfatigue and its attendant dangers, overheating and perspiration. By exercising caution, a man may live through a week of what he is undergoing. To make this article brief, we shall suppose that he regains the road by the afternoon of the first day. He doesn't yet know, of course, just where he is. He should examine the tracks of the person who last passed that way. It being afternoon, he must follow the direction taken by the last passing vehicle or team, as shelter will be nearest in that direction. Had it been morning he would have taken the opposite direction, as whoever made the tracks must have come from the place where he obtained shelter the previous night.—Outing Magazine.

Commerce. If commerce hath wrought wonders till wonders never cease, not least among them is that in virtue of which we fatten bulls with wheat that falls—the nice distinction of moon and tum whereof, misfortune are rendered into assets—thy misfortunes into my assets.

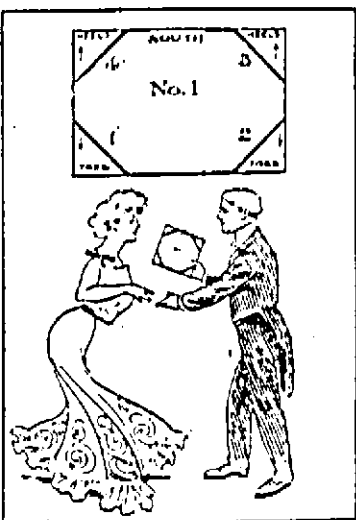

A thousand years ago you might get it in the week, and that would be about all—you would perhaps be the wiser, but no man would be any the richer. Now, however, the sum cannot burn up a Hindu's rice, or the half pound a Russian's corn into the ground, without somebody's prosperity being boosted. And that is because, in spite of poets and other kickers, commerce has steadily come on.

LEARN DANCING BY CHART

Self-Instruction Made Easy by a Series of Diagrams.

Hashful people who would like to know how to dance, but have not the courage to go to a dancing school or accompanying friends to teach them, may now realize their desire. An Indian woman has made it possible for them to learn how to trip the light fantastic too at home and not until they become literally better perfect need they exhibit their uncertain steps in public. This woman has arranged a series of charts, consisting of eight abiding diagrams to be placed on the floor and danced upon. In each corner of each chart is either the word "heel" or "toe," and an arrow pointing to them. Then there is also a number in each corner and by taking a position indicated by the arrows and following the numbers, the intricacies of two-steps and waltzes may be solved. Necessarily such a course of instruction will perfect the student only in the mechanical movements necessary, but after watching a couple of good dancers several times, some grace of movement may be acquired, unless the grace is not there, in which case even a dancing master could not bring it out.

AWNING FOR CHAIR

Canopy to Shield User Can Be Attached to Back.

Sunshine has been robbed of its terrors for the fair sex by the ingenuity of a Scotchman. This man has devised a chair canopy or awning that can be attached to the back of any ordinary chair and put up or down at will. The canopy, which is like an awning frame, is pivoted to the uprights of the chair back. At the top is a roller, on which the awning folds, and the arms of the frame can also be folded together and let down over the back of the chair when not needed. The roller on which the awning folds works by a spring. The convenience of such a canopy can be readily seen. Persons who are not so fortunate as to have porches will be able to sit in the sun, with an awning over their heads, which is equipped with these awnings will add to the comfort of outings. For use at the seashore alone this contrivance should have a big demand. Among its other merits is that of being easy to adjust in place.

HANDY GARMENT-HANGER

Holds Coat, Trousers or Skirt, or All of Them at Once.

A new sort of garment-hanger, that has the capacity of two or three of the old kind, has been devised by an Indiana woman, who may have had little closet room at her house, for she has certainly economized space. At first glance this new hanger resembles others of its class, but a second glance will reveal the difference. It consists of a pair of coat-hangers joined at the top by a long, extending from what appears to be a huge clump.

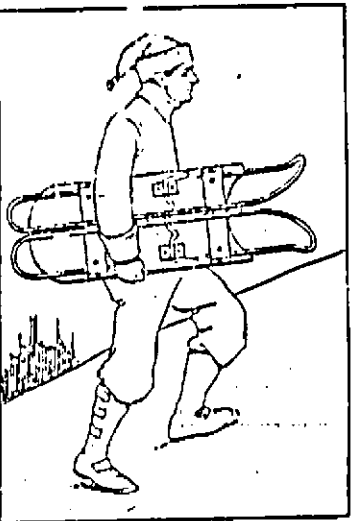

SAVES CLOSET ROOM.

This clump has teeth, which will hold one or several pairs of trousers, bottom and up, but the teeth are not sharp enough to tear the cloth. It is the feature of the hanger that differentiates it from others and makes it capable of holding more garments than the rest. Skirts may also be depended from it in the same way as trousers, and its capacity is limited only by the distance the jaws of the clump can be opened.

FOLDING SLED

Makes a Convenient Shape for Ship-ment and Storage.

Scientific sledging promises to be a fashionable pastime in this country in the near future. Just as it is in some of the countries of Europe, where national contests are held every year. These events attract great attention and the entrants are not children, but men and women who have given the sport a great deal of attention, practicing and training in the winter months. This has given an impetus to the sled business, and several new forms have been recently introduced. One of the novelties is a folding sled, which can be readily carried under the arm when it is desired to take it from one point to another. The method of construction is clearly shown in the cut, which presents a bottom view of the sled, with the runners folded back on the under side of the seat board. The runners are made of steel rods, which are clamped to the wooden top in a manner that permits them to be easily folded. When in upright position the legs are held by adjustable braces. A notable feature of the design used in this construction is the clear opening between the runners, which offers no obstruction to the snow.

RATTLING ALARM CLOCK

Awakes Sleeper Without Arousing the Whole Neighborhood.

Among the various things which often make life hard to bear, not the least is the neighbor's alarm clock. This instrument of torture to the innocent has a right to be classed with the beginner's cornet and the German band, for while it is eminently effective in doing its duty it too often succeeds in waking everybody within earshot. Out of consideration for the sufferers and partly, no doubt, to fatten his own bank account, a German inventor has devised a rattling alarm clock. This clock, instead of having a gong has a contrivance on top like the mouthpiece of a telephone and at the back of this mouthpiece is a little hammer, striking on a spring. At the time set this hammer is put to work beating a tattoo on the diaphragm of the mouthpiece. This produces a continual and penetrating rattling which wakes the sleeper quite as effectively as the ordinary alarm and without disturbing persons in other parts of the house.

TO FILL ICE-CREAM CONES

Device Cuts Cream in Proper Shape and Drops It Into Holder.

The ice-cream cone has come to stay. This is attested not only by the fact that the juvenile public indulges in many millions of them a summer, but in the invention of a device by which the receptacles in which the ice-cream is placed may be filled with rapidity and precision. The Minnesota man who was the first to see the value of such an invention will probably reap a rich harvest. The device consists of a two-part, conical receptacle pivotally supported on a handle which swings over these parts away from each other, the lower ends becoming ever wider. This is dipped into a can of cream and closed, cutting out a cone the exact size and shape of the cone to be filled. It is then placed in the cone and opened as withdrawn, thus depositing the cream. The work is done much more rapidly and with more cleanliness than in the old way. Ice-cream for soda water can also be handled with the device.

ACTRESS SHOTS SELF IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Mrs. Eleanor Cowper Follows Example of J. H. Wallick, Her Friend and Partner.

New York, Nov. 28.—Using a pillow to muffle the report of a revolver, Mrs. Eleanor Cowper, a talented playwright and actress, shot herself in the right temple Friday in an apartment at the St. Regis hotel. Mrs. Cowper was rendered unconscious and is slowly dying. She had been a protegee and business partner of James H. Wallick, a manager and actor, who committed suicide last May in Middletown, N. Y.

Before shooting herself, Mrs. Cowper wrote letters to her lawyer, Judge Herbert B. Royce of Middletown, and to John Hood, manager of the Klug Edward hotel in West Forty-seventh street, where she formerly lived, advising them of her intention to kill herself. A brief history of her life, largely devoted to recounting her career on the stage, was found in her effects.

In all the voluminous writings she left behind she made no mention of any motive that might drive her to suicide. She received royalties on several plays, had an interest in a big farm owned by Mr. Wallick at Middletown, and was in the best of health apparently.

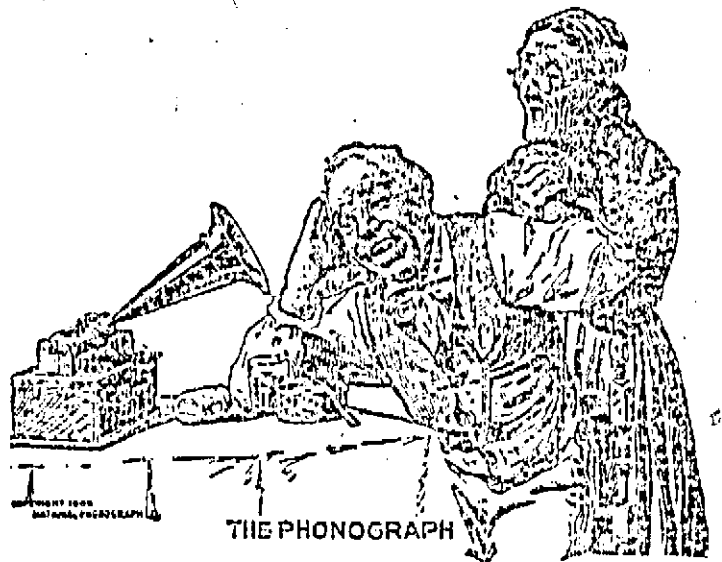

Mrs. Cowper met James H. Wallick some six years ago, when she went to live at Middletown with her husband, Theodore Archibald Cowper, an actor. He became insane and died about three years ago. Mr. Wallick was greatly interested in Mrs. Cowper and produced one of her plays, called "A Dairy Farm." He also took her into partnership in his stock farm business.

Did You Ever Start a Phonograph for the Benefit of a Child?

Did you ever see the face of a child when it is absolutely happy? It is a wonderful thing to make a child happy. ## EYE TROUBLES.

Caused By Improper Food.

Most people would never think of connecting eye disease with the food they eat. But when we remember that every part of the body—every organ—is nourished by the blood and the blood is made of the food we eat, it seems reasonable to trace even eye troubles to food.

A N. Y. man had an interesting experience at one of the great hospitals in that city that may benefit persons who have chronic eye trouble. He writes:

"Four years ago I was stricken with an eye trouble. After being unsuccessfully treated by several physicians and oculists, I went to a noted New York hospital.

"On examination they pronounced my case little inflammation of the iris, caused by poor blood on account of improper assimilation of food.

"They had to operate on my right eye, keeping me in a dark room and on a strict diet for several weeks. When leaving, the doctor cautioned me in regard to saving the other eye, saying that I must be temperate as to my diet and use neither tea nor coffee.

"I told him it would be almost impossible for me to get and live on what they had given me at the hospital. He replied: 'It is not necessary. As an official here I cannot recommend any private brand of food or drink. As a friend I advise you to try Grape-Nuts, discard all fatty, heating foods as much as possible, especially in the morning.'

"This advice I have followed, excepting a few times when I have given careless, but danger signals always come, such as specks and blots before my eyes and some inflammation. You may be certain I go back to what my doctor advised—Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason."

CHINAMAN CAN BE SARCASTIC.

Many of Their Sayings in Common Use Have Real Wit.

Once in a while you meet a common Chinaman who has some of the wit of Mr. Wu. One such has a laundry in Lexington avenue, not far from Twenty-third street. The other day I heard him yell at a recalcitrant customer: "You no pay? Then you paper tiger!" I asked what he meant by a "paper tiger," and he replied: "Oh, in China a paper tiger is blackguard who blows much but is harmless." He added: "When a man is very proud of himself, what Americans call 'stuck up,' we compare to a rat falling into a scale and weighing itself. When a Chinaman overdoes a thing we say he is a hunchback making a bow. The rich son who quickly spends his father's money we call a rocket which goes off at once. We say of you rich Americans who send money to health resorts by missionaries and neglect their family at home: 'They hang their lantern on a pole, which is seen from afar, but gives no light below.'"—New York Press.

Arrest a Rich Farmer.

Waukegan, Nov. 28.—Farmers in the towns of Muskego and New Berlin have suffered from frequent thefts. The granary at the farm of Theodore Posbrisk, Muskego, was broken into and a number of bushels of clover and timothy seed stolen. Posbrisk followed the wagon tracks and subsequently swore out a search warrant. Under-sheriff Gibson and Deputy Cliney went to the home of Clarence Killips, New Berlin, where they found nine bags of seed hidden under a bed. Killips was arrested on a burglary charge. He is a well-known farmer.

This Year's Hunting Casualties.

Milwaukee, Nov. 28.—The number of hunting casualties was smaller than that of last year.

A total of 25 were killed and 53 injured in Wisconsin and the upper peninsula this year, against 51 killed and 66 wounded when the deer hunting season was about to close last year. To the forest fires last fall is ascribed the reason for the smaller toll of dead and injured in that the underbrush was burned away and the forests made more open.

Dog Proves His Rescuer.

Waukegan, Nov. 28.—The barking of his faithful dog saved Chris Nelson from meeting death in a cave-in. While working alone in a gravel pit at the farm of F. His dog discovered something wrong and barked lustily attracting the attention of neighbors who came and dug Nelson out.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN AMERICA AND JAPAN

Mutual Disclaimer of Aggressive Design and Pact to Maintain China's Integrity.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The United States and Japan have entered into a most important agreement covering their policy in the Pacific, and the general features of the pact have become known, though the government has been silent regarding the agreement.

The agreement is based on the idea of encouraging and defending free and peaceful commercial development in the Pacific. It contains not only a mutual guarantee to respect each other's territorial possessions there, but defines the attitude of the two countries towards China, binding each to defend by every peaceful means China's independence and integrity, and to give equal commercial opportunity in the Chinese empire to all nations. But more important still, the agreement, in the event of complications threatening the status quo, binds the United States and Japan to consult each other with a view to acting together.

The agreement has been drawn up in the form of a declaration and consists of five articles, of which the following is an accurate and faithful description. The first article gives expression to the wish of the two governments to encourage the free and peaceful development of their commerce in the Pacific. The second is a mutual disclaimer of an aggressive design, and contains also a definition of the policy of each government, both as directed to the maintenance of the existing status quo in the Pacific, and the defense of the principle of equal opportunity for commerce and industry in China. The third article contains a statement of the consequent "firm" reciprocal resolution of each government each to respect the territorial possession in the Pacific of the other. In the fourth article the United States and Japan express their determination, "in the common interest of all the powers," in China to support "by all peaceful means at their disposal" the independence and integrity of China and the principle of equal commercial and industrial opportunity for all nations in the empire. The fifth article mutually pledges the two governments, in the case of "the occurrence of any event threatening the status quo, as above described, or the principle of equal opportunity, as above defined," to consult with each other for the purpose of arriving at a mutual understanding with regard to the measures they may consider it useful to take.

A FLOUR STORY

FULL OF FACTS

Twenty-five years ago, Jennison Brothers situated right in the heart of the Minnesota wheat belt and proceeded to mill a flour that was to be the best flour it was possible to make, from the best grade of Minnesota Northern wheat. This flour was named JERSEY LILY and the name promptly copyrighted. For FIFTEEN years this flour was sold with unparalleled success. Other manufacturers could not help but recognize the fact that Jersey Lily was a superior flour and set to work to imitate in name, if not in quality. At one time a brand was put on the market by our imitators, naming it Jersey Lily, which of course was an infringement upon our copyright and was promptly stopped. Others have used all sorts of names on their flour, to imitate Jersey Lily as closely as they dared. There is a saying that imitation is sincerest flattery and we consider this a strong point in favor of our flour. But nevertheless, Jersey Lily is sold upon its merits as the best flour it is possible to produce from the best Minnesota wheat and is now being sold in Janesville in hundreds of homes who have found it most satisfactory of all. Four times the amount of Jersey Lily is sold here than of any other flour. All Grocers handle it.

Now and Christmas

There are countless dozens of things that must be done in these four weeks. There is the regular routine of daily toil which seems somehow to take up all of our time and then there are the things that you must make for Christmas gifts and the dozens of purchases. And one day less than four weeks in which to accomplish it all.

There is the overwork and the hurry and the rush and overworked merchants and their employees still to come.

Why not make this a pleasant Christmas for all. Let us all try and relieve the burdens of others this Yule Tide.

The Younger Set.

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS.
Author of "The Fighting Chance," Etc.

Copyright, 1907, by Robert W. Chambers.

"Already" the familiarity of his appearance and his name seemed to sanction his presence. Two minor clubs, but good ones—in need of dues—had staid at this social canal and swallowed him. Card rooms welcomed him—not the rooms once hung open contemptuously for his plucking, but rooms where play was decorous and where those who faced him expected battle to the limit.

And they got it, for he no longer felt obliged to lose. And that again was a mistake. He could not yet afford to win.

George Fane, unpleasantly involved in Black Copper, angry, but not very much frightened, turned in casual good faith to Neergard to ease matters until he could cover. And Neergard looked him in the lighter and shouldered his way through Rosamund's drawing room to the sill of Saxon Orchill's outer office, treading brutally on Harmon's heels.

Harmon in disgust, wrath and fear went to Crick; Crick to Maxwell Hunt; Hunt wired Mottly; Mottly, cold and sleek in his contempt, came from Palm Beach.

The cohesive power of caste is an unknown element to the outsider. That he had unwittingly and prematurely aroused some unsuspected force on which he had not counted and of which he had no definite knowledge, was revealed to Neergard when he desired Rosamund to obtain for him an invitation to the Orchill's ball.

It appeared that she could not do so—that even the threatened tendency of Black Copper could not sharpen her wits to devise a way for him. Very innocently she told him that Jack Ruthven was leading the Chinese coalition with Mrs. Delmour-Carnes from one end, Gerald Erroll with Gladys from the other—a hint that a card ought to be easy enough to obtain in spite of the strangely forgetful Orchill.

Long since he had fixed upon Gladys Orchill as the most suitable silent partner for the unblithful house of Neergard, unconcerned that rumor was already sending her abroad for the double purpose of getting rid of Gerald and of giving deserving aristocracy a look in at the fresh youth of her and her selling price.

It had come on various occasions close to the unruffled skirts of this young girl—not yet, however, in her own house. But Saxon Orchill had recently condescended to turn around in his office chair and leave his summing railroad combinations long enough to divide with Neergard a quarter of a million copper profits, and there was another turn to be expected when Neergard gave the word.

Therefore it puzzled and confused Neergard to be overlooked where the gay world had been summoned with an accompanying blast from the public press; therefore he had gone to Rosamund with the curliest of hints that he would like to have a card to the Orchill affair.

"There is no use in speaking to George," she said, shaking her head.

"Try it," returned Neergard, with a hint of a snarl. And he took his leave and his hat from the man in waiting, who looked after him with the slightest twitching of his shaven upper lip, for the lifting of an eyebrow in the drawing room became a warning for a tip that runs very swiftly below stairs.

That afternoon, alone in his office, Neergard remembered Gerald, and for the first time he understood the mistake of making an enemy out of what he had known only as a friendly fool. But it was a detail, after all—merely a slight error in aspinning too early an and George's "no" was a "yes" wait for. He had waited a long, long while for some tidings.

As for Fane, he had him locked up with his short account. No doubt he'd hear from the Orchill through the Fanes. However, to elude the matter he thought he might as well stop in to see Ruthven.

So that afternoon he took a hansom at Broad and Wall streets and rolled smoothly uptown, not seriously concerned, but willing to have a brief understanding with Ruthven on one or two subjects.

As his cab drove up to the Interscally ornamental little house of gray stone a big touring limousine wheeled out from the curb, and he caught sight of Saxon Orchill and Phoenix; Mottly inside, evidently just leaving Ruthven.

His smiling and very cordial boy was returned coolly by Orchill and apparently not observed at all by Mottly. He sat a second in his cab motionless, the obsequious smile still stretched on his flushed face. Then the flash darkened. He got out of his cab and, bidding the man wait, rang at the house of Ruthven.

Ruthven in a lounging suit of blue silk, sat with his back to the door, as Neergard was announced, and even after he was announced Ruthven took his time to turn and stare and nod with a deliberate negligence that accented the affront.

Neergard sat down. Ruthven gazed out of the window, then, soft thumbs hooked in his ears, turned leisurely, in impudent interrogation.

"What is the matter with you?" asked Neergard. "I see there's some trouble somewhere. What is it? What's the matter with Orchill and that hateful faced bongo pup, Mottly? Is there anything the matter, Jack?"

"Nothing important," said Ruthven, with an intonation which troubled Neergard. "Did you come here to ask anything of me? Very glad to do anything, I'm sure."

"Are you? Well, then, I want a card to the Orchill's."

"Awfully sorry."

"You mean you won't?"

"Well, if you really insist, they—ah—don't want you, Neergard."

"Who—why—how do you happen to know that they don't? Is this some petty spite of that young cub, Gerald, or—"

"—and he almost looked at Ruthven—"Is this some childish whim of yours?"

"Oh, really now?"

"Yes, really now," sneered Neergard, "you'd better tell me. And you'd better understand now, once for all, just exactly what I've outlined for myself so you can steer clear of the territory I operate in. I need a little backing, but I can get along without it. And what I'm going to do is to marry Miss Orchill. Now you know; now you understand. I don't care a hang about the Erroll boy, and I think I'll discount right now any intentions of any married man to bother Miss Orchill after some Dakota divorce frees him from the woman whom he's driven into an asylum."

Ruthven looked at him curiously. "So that is discounted, is it?"

"I think so," nodded Neergard. "I don't think that man will try to obtain a divorce until I say the word."

"Oh, why not?"

"Because of my knowledge concerning that man's crooked methods in obtaining for me certain options that meant ruin to his own country club," said Neergard coolly.

"I see. How extraordinary! But the club has bought in all that land, hasn't it?"

"Yes, but the stench of your treachery remains, my friend."

"Not treachery, only temptation," observed Ruthven blandly. "I've talked

"Nothing important," said Ruthven. "It all over with Orchill and Mottly. I told Orchill what you persuaded me to do."

"You—you?"

"Not at all; not at all!" protested Ruthven, languidly settling himself once more among the cushions. "And, by the way," he added, "there's a law—bylaw, something or other—that I understand may interest you"—he looked up at Neergard, who had sunk back in his chair—"about unpaid assessments."

"Neergard now for the first time was looking directly at him.

"Unpaid assessments," repeated Ruthven. "It's a detail—a law—never enforced unless we—ah—find it convenient to rid ourselves of a member."

WEAKNESS OF NAVY

Danger in Lack of Colliers Is Pointed Out.

REPORT OF ADMIRAL COWLES

New High-Power Wireless Stations Planned for Several Points in Pacific—Two Vessels of Pacific Fleet Ordered to Yangtze River.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Rear Admiral Cowles, in his report as chief of the engineering bureau, makes clear that the navy's chief weakness is its lack of colliers. He says that the Atlantic fleet on its trip around the world might have been left helpless in some foreign port if complications with other countries had arisen or if foreign ship owners had formed a combination.

The total number of American vessels that might have been obtained by purchase or otherwise would not have been capable of carrying a sufficient amount of coal to supply the fleet on its voyage and it was necessary to charter foreign vessels for this purpose. He recommends that immediate steps be taken to supply an adequate number of colliers for the navy.

Progress in Wireless Telegraphy. Admiral Cowles' report says that during the past year marked progress has been made in wireless telegraphy and its value in the scheme of national defense is becoming more and more apparent. Recent developments warrant the establishment of high-powered, long distance stations. Besides the erection of such a station at Washington in the near future, the bureau contemplates eventually the construction of such stations on the Pacific coast at Hawaii, Guam, Samoa and the Philippines, so that the fleet will at all times be in direct communication with Washington wherever it may be.

When the high power station at Washington is erected, noon signals will be sent out which will reach every portion of the Atlantic ocean.

Vessels Sent to Yangtze River. Directions have been cabled Admiral Halsey, commanding the Pacific fleet at Manila, to send two of his vessels to the Yangtze river country, China, the vessels previously there having gone to Manila with the remainder of the Pacific fleet for target practice. This step is taken as a matter of precaution, it being deemed wise to have available American naval representation in the event of any serious trouble in which American interests might be jeopardized or the safety of the missionaries imperiled.

During the stay of the Pacific fleet at Manila an opportunity has been offered for an exchange with the battleship fleet of short term men for those who have a long term to serve.

Story of the Relief's Experience. Secretary Mottly Friday received a cablegram from Admiral Sperry giving an account of the storm met by the hospital ship Relief and the damage done to that vessel. The advice supplement the press dispatches. On the afternoon of November 18 the Relief got in the track of a typhoon while on its way from Manila to the island of Guam and was unable to run away from it. The barometer registered the almost unprecedented condition indicated by 28.10. While disabled the Relief rolled heavily in the trough of the sea and the deckhouse and doors on both sides of the vessel were stove in. Four feet of water was found in the forehold.

Seven fires were started at one time aboard the ship as the result of short circuits on the electric wires, and it was necessary to shut down the dynamos. There were no casualties to the personnel of the vessel. Admiral Sperry has ordered a general survey for a complete investigation.

BASIS FOR WAR ON PLAGUE. Design of Tuberculosis Exhibition Arranged for New York.

New York, Nov. 28.—As the basis for what it is declared will be the greatest campaign against disease ever waged in a city, the International Tuberculosis exhibition, at which the work of 15 foreign governments in controlling and stamping out the "great white plague," is shown, will be opened at the American Museum of Natural History in this city November 30. Three entire floors of the museum are devoted to the demonstration of methods and results in dealing with the disease.

In conjunction with the exhibit the Charity Organization society will conduct a series of lectures by which information regarding the latest preventive and curative measures in dealing with tuberculosis will, it is estimated, be brought to the attention of more than a million people.

Ohio to Test Option Law. Findlay, O., Nov. 28.—Suit was filed here Friday afternoon to test the constitutionality of the Ohio local option law, by which 64 of the 88 counties of the state have voted out the saloons.

Big Tannery Is Burned. Milford, N. H., Nov. 28.—The tannery of T. F. Boyle & Co. was burned Friday night, together with a large amount of finished leather. The total loss is placed at $125,000.

Wharf at Sorel, Que., Collapses. Sorel, Que., Nov. 28.—The government wharf here collapsed Friday morning. The damage is estimated at $200,000.

WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR SAY?

Does it cheerfully report an abundance of beautiful, well kept hair, or does it regretfully tell the story of hair neglect?

Your mirror may be anxious to please, but if you permit your friends to see dull, brittle and lusterless hair with possibly dandruff and falling hair, your mirror will have to reflect the same condition.

All of these unfortunate EFFECTS can be overcome by destroying their CAUSE with

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The ORIGINAL Remedy that "Kills the Dandruff Germ"

Dandruff, with its consequent hair injury and hair loss, is now known to be a highly contagious germ disease. It is caused by an invisible growth of vegetable character that finds lodgment in the sebaceous glands of the scalp. This growth disturbs the functions of the sebaceous glands, causing excessive oiliness or extreme dryness of the hair. It also sets up an inflammatory process that extends down the follicle to the papilla, where the adhesions are loosened and the hair slips out. The value of Newbro's Herpicide in such cases is quite extraordinary. Its intelligent use will correct every condition short of chronic baldness and thus permit the hair to resume its natural luster and abundance.

MISS EDNA IRVINE

A noted Theatrical Star whose photograph is here reproduced WRITES AS FOLLOWS: "I can most heartily endorse Newbro's Herpicide. It is delightful for the hair and I could not do without it."

(Signed) EDNA IRVINE

More men and women have gotten positive results from the use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE than from all other hair remedies combined.

Send 10 cents in stamps to THE HERPICIDE COMPANY, Dept. L, Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet. Two Sizes—50 cents and $1.00. At Drug Stores. When you call for Herpicide, do not accept a substitute. Applications at prominent Barber Shops.

MISS MAE OTIS, ACCUSED OF ATTEMPTING HER MOTHER'S MURDER.

Chicago, Ill.—The case of Miss Mae Otis, accused of attempting her mother's murder in order to get hold of about $6,000 which her mother had, is one of the most dramatic and heart-rending incidents in police court annals.

That a sweet, demure young lady, who for years has been employed as a bookkeeper should conceive so heinous a crime as disclosures show Miss Otis to have attempted, is beyond belief. The present theory is that she was temporarily deranged and that she was gathering evidence to lay before a commission which is to pass upon her sanity. The facts in the case are so contradictory as to be incredible, but with her heartless planning was an absolute backing of precaution.

The facts in the case are so effect that Miss Otis called upon a local detective agency last week and asked them to secure for her information relative to the amount of property her mother possessed. This was handled promptly and a few days later she was told her mother had in all about $6,000 available assets. This she

HOTEL MYERS SATURDAY, DECEMBER 8TH.

Miss Otis' mother was horrified at the attempt to assassinate her and refused absolutely to hallow it. Her mother love was stronger than any other feeling and she immediately went to the girl and attempted to shield her in every way and begged for her release. Her mother states that the girl's father died in the asylum and that Miss Otis has been ill for some time and hints that she is undoubtedly of an unbalanced mind.

Virtue. If we take a general view of the world, we shall find that a great deal of virtue, at least outward appearance of it, is not so much from any fixed principle, as the terror of what the world will say, and the liberty it will take upon the occasions we shall give it.

NEW VALUE OF GOOD WATER.

Greek Writer Advised Countrymen to Sterilize Fluid.

The ancient Greeks already recommended the use of sterilized water. Hygieia of Ephesus in the first century of this era taught that "all water from rivers and ponds is bad, except that from the Nile. Water from rivers which flow through unhealthy soil, stagnant water and that which flows near public bathing places is harmful. The best water is that which has been boiled in baked earthenware vessels, cooled and then heated a second time before drinking."

This hygienic prescription was intended both for healthy and sick people, since it was applied to the armies. "During marches and in the camps pits must be dug successively from the highest point to the lowest level of the place. These holes should be lined with clay such as is used for making pottery and the water should be made to percolate through it. The water will leave all its impurities in these pits."

It may be inquired how the ancient Greeks, knowing the processes of sterilization and filtration of water which they applied to that of the most impure waters, should have drunk without precautions the water of the Nile, which our microscopes allow us to declare "sound," but which is in appearance the most worthy of suspicion of all, and is so muddy, so yellow, that it resembles wine.
